SO YOU HAVE HEALTH QUESTIONS AND CONCERNS

Step 1

 Be aware that some conditions may not produce symptoms for weeks to months after you return home.

Step 2

 Contact your local UA, Commander, or civilian health care provider for problems, questions, or concerns noticed after redeployment, and make sure to tell him/her about your deployment.

Step 3

 If you feel ill, your primary health care provider can do an initial assessment. If symptoms persist or your condition is not improving, make sure you return to your health care provider.

Step 4

 The DoD Deployment Health Clinical Center is always available to answer your questions, and any questions your health care provider (civilian or military) may have about your health.

STRESS

- You may have witnessed and experienced horrific sites
- You may have feelings of pity, horror, repulsion, and anger
- All of these feelings are honorable and confirm your humanity
- Chaplains and counselors are always available to help you cope

REUNITING WITH FAMILY AND FRIENDS

 Reunion is a part of the deployment cycle and can be filled with joy and stress.
 Reintegration into the family structure is a critical process.

 Refer to the A Soldier and Family Guide to redeploying for things to remember during reunion friends.

 Chaplains and counselors are available to help cope with homecoming stress

CONCLUSION

It is important to the US military and the nation that you enjoy good health as you rejoin your family and friends upon return to home station.

If you have health problems or concerns, it is critical that you let someone know. It will not delay your departure for home station.

Are there any questions?
